That with a desire to get a small house constructed, he applied for and obtained a building site in the Basavana pur extension. He is of very limited means and does not possess sufficient funds to do so in such hard times as this. Materials and labour are very costly.

That he hears that house building advances to the extent of six months' salary of an official are paid to him, and the amount covered in 24 monthly instalments.

That considering the hard straitened circumstances your humble petitioner is labouring under, and the fact that he has insured his life in the Mysore Life Insurance, he most respectfully begs that you will be pleased to order an advance of one year's salary to him to be covered in 48 monthly instalments of half of Six months' salary to be deducted in 24 months.

For which act of kindness your petitioner will ever pray.
